Kissing the Face of God: Book 1 in the series - "A Slow Dance with God" By Don Moore

Have you ever wondered why you exist? Is there a purpose to your life, to human life in general? Is there Someone, anyone out there who wants to know you and to be known by you? Is God all about rules and rituals or is God the origin and driving force of love? In this small book, that is a chapter of a larger book in development, Don Moore looks at why we humans exist and how we came into being. These are deep questions, but Moore writes not so much from a philosophical perspective as from a personal, relational perspective.

Moore trusts that the Biblical record gives us trustworthy information about who God is and who we are as human beings. We are told – yes, Someone wants to communicate with you – that rather than bio-chemical accidents in a mechanically controlled world, we humans were originally hand-crafted by our Creator God.

Our Father in heaven created us for one purpose: to love us so that we could love Him and each other in return. This means that there is a purpose inherent in human life that goes beyond religion, a job with benefits, and standing in line to be one of the first to own the new I-phone. It means that you have the fingerprints of God in you – but what does that mean in terms of how you live your life?

This is where Jesus comes into the picture. As a fully human being Jesus came to show us the human life that each of us has been created to live. No, not as messiahs, but as children of God. Moore believes that Jesus was, is, and always has been God, but He became a human being in order to put aside anything that stood in the way of a full relationship between God and the humans that He created to look like Him. Rather than being warmed-over theology, this is a personal account of some of the differences between life as a church goer and church leader to life as a child of God.

Jesus wasn't a Roman Catholic, or a Baptist, or a Pentecostal. He wasn't a Christian in the usual sense of how we use the word today. Neither was He a good Jew! He didn't become a human being in order to promote a religious organization or a race of people. He came to demonstrate how to live as a fully human being, one who carries the image and authority of God in this world. That's why He invites you to, "Follow Me."

How would your life change if you believed that you have the ability and the authority to change this world, your world for the better? What if God not only loves you, but likes you and wants to hang out with you? Are you ready for that kind of intimacy?

This book doesn't try to answer all the questions and Moore doesn't claim to have all the answers. He believes that he has been encountered by the One who has changed his life from a focus on being right to a focus on being loved so he can love those around him. It's a short read, so give it a try and see who's waiting for you.
