Marijuana Business: Security for Your Marijuana Business: Protecting Your Staff, Investment and Building (Volume 2) By Marijuana Business Books

Second in the Marijuana Business series, Security For Your Marijuana Business: Protecting Your Staff, Investment and Building is a must for those currently in the marijuana growing and retail industry, and for those thinking of starting up a new marijuana business.

Many of us feel we are invincible at times, thinking nothing unfortunate will happen to us or our business. And as reality has so often shown, this couldn't be farther from the truth. Even with the highest precautions sometimes, danger can seep in.

That's why taking every precaution possible, discussed in detail throughout this book—such as state-of-the-art alarm systems, employee education sessions, interior and exterior safety procedures—is the single most worthwhile investment you can make for your business.

Let's face it: marijuana and the cash associated with the business are a major temptation to would-be thieves. This goes for your employees as well, also discussed in the chapters below. The allure of working alongside fine harvested marijuana can be an irresistible enticement for some. There are ways to mitigate theft from within and outside of your facility.

Don't leave open any doors to "the dark side." Invest in preparedness and live to tell about it—as a person and a successful entrepreneur.
